Chance of smooth Brexit process goes gut the window after British election chaos.

Theresa May's insistence on starting Brexit negotiations next Monday is questioned by Britons who think the prime minister's calamitous election setback means she should now seek to stay in the EU single market. However, in the year since Britain voted to leave the European Union, the other 27 EU states have hardened their common position and narrowed British options for avoiding a "hard Brexit". (secondcomingherald.com 6/11)

The winds of change in Germany and Europe.

Following President Trump's choice not to re-commit to NATO Article 5 (which states that if one member of NATO is attacked, the others will come to its support), German Chancellor Merkel observed, "The times in which we can fully count on others are somewhat over, as I have experienced in the past few days" (EU Observer, May 29, 2017). She continued, "That is why I can only say: We Europeans must really take our fate into our own hands" (Spiegel Online, May 29, 2017).

Europe's Islamic Future.

Europe is changing and experts now believe the process of Islamization has moved past a point of no return. In just a few decades we will look back on Christian values, democratic principles, freedom of belief, equality of the genders and respect for individual rights as echoes of a glorious European past. There is no great Islamic army of tanks and soldiers arrayed across Europe's borders. Neither Turkey, Egypt, Syria nor Iran need to declare war or fire a single shot and yet within a few short generations, Islam will overwhelm the European continent and snuff out French, German, Swedish, British and a host of other European cultures. The invasion is one of immigration and higher birthrates, and it is well underway. Immigration is a part of the equation, but equally important are the higher birthrates of Muslim families. Yasser Arafat told the Arab world in 1994, while he was the President of the PLA, that Islam would "win the world through the wombs of the Arabic women." As recently as March of 2017, the President Erdogan of Turkey delivered a speech in which he instructed Turks to "Make not three, but five children because you are the future of Europe. That will be the best response to the injustices against you." The rising tide of Islam is creeping slowly across the continent of Europe as populations of Christians and those of European heritage slowly dwindle in numbers. (prophecynewswatch.com 5/24)

Russian lawmaker issues sobering threat: we're willing to use nukes to defend Crimea.

As of late, the media has forgotten about tensions between Ukraine, NATO, and Russia. Crimea and the conflict in Eastern Ukraine have largely left the public's awareness. However, that shouldn't be the case, because this region is still a powder keg that could blow at any time. And if it does, it could easily result in another world war. (freedomoutpost.com 5/31)

Will Yemen collapse? Two years of fighting between warring Muslim factions has decimated this nation, leading the UN humanitarian chief to assert that Yemen is facing a "total social, economic and institutional collapse" (BBC, May 31, 2017). Since April, a re-occurring cholera epidemic has infected 60,000 people and killed 500. Over 18 million people need humanitarian assistance because "the people of Yemen are being subjected to deprivation, disease and death as the world watches" (ibid.). "More than two million children are acutely malnourished in Yemen, where a child under five dies every 10 minutes of preventable diseases, according to a report by UNICEF published in December" (Al Jazeera, May 29, 2017). But do the people of the world really care? (twnews&prophecy.com 6/9)

Pope Francis Demanding 'Total Obedience'.

In what is perhaps the most strongly worded address of the Francis pontificate, the Pope blasted a group of Nigerian priests who have rejected the papal appointment of their bishop to the diocese of Ahiara. The Pope described the priests' offense against the Church as a "mortal sin," demanding that each one write a personal letter of apology within 30 days manifesting "total obedience to the Pope," or be suspended from the priesthood. (endtime.com 6/16)

5 highly respected financial experts that are warning that a market crash is imminent.

If everything is going to be "just fine", why are so many big names in the financial community warning about an imminent meltdown? At this point, you would have to be blind not to see that stocks are absurdly overvalued and that a correction is going to happen at some point. And when stocks do start crashing, lots of fingers are going to start pointing at President Trump, but it won't be his fault. The Federal Reserve and other central banks are primarily responsible for creating this bubble, and they should definitely get the blame for what is about to happen to global financial markets.
