Will America Learn From the Collapse of the Roman Empire? Every great civilization throughout human history has eventually collapsed, and if we want to have any hope of escaping the same fate, we need to be willing to learn some lessons from the past. Many of the same factors that caused the collapse of previous civilizations are weighing very heavily on the United States of America today. (prophecynewswatch.com 3/1)

Walmart. As it turns out, the American Family Association isn't the only organization with concerns about Walmart's liberal position on social issues like life, marriage, religious liberty, the Second Amendment, the environment, education – all are very concerning for people who are conservative or people who uphold traditional values. The American Family Association launched a petition on Wednesday asking Walmart to remove from Facebook a two-and-a-half-minute ad featuring two homosexual men on a "blind date" as they meet at the store, embrace, and then shop together. Religion and Depression

A 2012 study showed that those who believe that religion or spirituality are "highly important" are less likely to be depressed than those who do not hold this belief—even among those with a family history of depression (American Journal of Psychiatry, January 2012). New brain research shows that religion and spirituality cause changes in neurological structures in the region of the brain associated with depression. Even among those with a family history of depression, the brains of those who are religious and spiritual look more like the brains of those without depression. (PsyPost.com, February 3, 2019). The great God who created the human body and the brain, long ago gave ten powerful commandments, recorded in Exodus 20. The first four of these commandments make plain that God is to be worshiped, and show us how to do this. This same God instructed His people that, if they would highly value their belief in Him by constantly seeking and obeying Him, they would not experience the diseases they had previously seen come upon the Egyptians (Exodus 15:26). God also promised "great peace" (Psalms 119:165) and happiness (Psalms 146:5) to those who maintain their focus on Him. It is exciting to see modern research bearing out the benefits of maintaining a strong spiritual focus—with even the structures in the brain reflecting differences for the better. Netanyahu to Stand Trial for Bribery, Fraud and Breach of Trust, Pending Hearing.

In a decision that drastically shakes up Israeli politics less than six weeks before general elections, Attorney General Mandelblit announced Thursday that Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu will be charged with criminal wrongdoing in three separate cases against him, including bribery in the far-reaching Bezeq corruption probe, pending a hearing. The decision marks the first time in Israel's history that a serving prime minister has been told he faces criminal charges, and casts a heavy shadow over Netanyahu's re-election campaign. Netanyahu, Beset by Legal Woes, to Launch Likud Campaign With Solo Appearance. "Lapid and Gantz are trying to conceal and disguise, as if they aren't left-wing," Netanyahu told Likud lawmakers in a briefing. "If we clarify that truth to the public, Likud will be able to close the gap and win. The announcement of Mandelblit's intention to indict the prime minister, who long argued that the decision should be postponed until after the election so that it would not affect public opinion, places Netanyahu's legal situation front and center in the campaign. Netanyahu said there was "no explanation" for the timing, coming just 40 days before election day, other than that it was part of a political vendetta designed to oust his right-wing government and install the left. When Man Interferes With God's Creation organization is actively working to reintroduce oysters into the ecosystem. So far, they have restored about 30 million oysters, but that's only a small fraction of what used to thrive in the area. One adult oyster cleanses about 50 gallons of water each day. God designed these powerful underwater filters to remove debris, heavy metals, bacteria, viruses, and other toxins from the water. Some of these filtered elements are deposited on the ocean floor while others, mostly chemicals, heavy metals, and dangerous microbes are stored in the flesh of the oyster. This is why it is no surprise that God gave the command millennia ago to avoid eating shellfish. (Lev. 11:10-12) (twnews&prophecy.com 2/15)
