Christians Die, Media Mum: Genocide In Nigeria.

The population of Nigeria is almost evenly divided between Muslims and Christians the Muslims mainly in the north and Christians mainly in the south and east part of the country. The "Middle Belt" is ethnically and religiously diverse and Christians have been on the receiving end of a campaign of "religious cleansing," an attempt "to eradicate Christianity" from the region. Two groups, Boko Haram and Fulani herdsmen are responsible for killing thousands of Christians and displacing countless more in northern Nigeria. In late June, Christian leaders claimed that "over 6,000 persons, mostly children, women and the aged, have been maimed and killed in night raids by armed Fulani herdsmen." The Nigerian president is the son of a Fulani Chief. Since February alone, nearly 300 Christians have been killed and thousands more displaced. We are living in a new age of religious persecution and even martyrdom. (prophecynewswatch.com 3/23)

Pathway to the Beast. As a part of China's controversial "social credit" system, millions of travelers have been blocked from purchasing train or plane tickets, using the internet, decent schooling, getting a job, staying in hotels, and have had their pets taken away. China is also taking advantage of the mob mentality by branding violators as "bad citizens." Their "social credit" system has drawn the ire of privacy advocates who fear the surveillance-based system could lead to dystopian outcomes. Citizens are put on blacklists for so-called social credit offenses. The offenses can include things like not paying taxes, jaywalking, smoking on a train, and walking their dogs without a leash. The most frightening part? That system is coming HERE. soon. While most Americans have scarcely noticed their descent into a police state, they are quick to dismiss the idea that such a system could be implemented in the land they still perceive to be free. However, all the moving parts are in place in the United States. They only need to come together to form the Social Credit System here. And they are coming together. The Social Credit System goes along with the move to a cashless Society. (endtime.com 3/9, prophecynews watch.com 3/23)

The Kodajji Temple, a 400-year old Buddhist Temple in Kyoto, Japan, made world headlines this month by unveiling an android named Mindar, modeled on a Buddhist deity named Kannon. Temple visitors can ask the robot questions, and using artificial intelligence, Mindar answers in Japanese while English and Chinese subtitles appear on the wall behind it. With built-in cameras, Mindar makes eye contact with questioners, creating the illusion it's alive and interacting with people. So what makes Mindar truly different? It's Mindar's human likeness, interactivity, and one other trait, people are actively engaged in the worship of Min-

Damascus to Become a "Ruinous Heap"?: Syria Threatens to Attack the Golan Heights and Israel Prepares for War.

(Isaiah 17:1) The winds of war are blowing once again, and it isn't going to take much to spark a major conflict in the Middle East. This week is the eighth anniversary of the beginning of the civil war in Syria, and after the nightmare that the people of Syria have been through, you would think that the Assad regime would be eager for peace. But instead, Assad appears to be ready to go for broke. If Syria can spark a Middle East war that results in the complete destruction of Israel, Assad would be remembered as a hero in the Islamic world forever. Instead of a legacy of civil war and crushing poverty, Assad's legacy would be one of wartime leader that brought total victory over Syria's most hated enemy. But of course, such a conflict would be a huge risk because if it went badly the city of Damascus would be completely flattened and the nation of Syria as we know it today would be entirely destroyed. And considering how overwhelmingly powerful the Israeli military is, it would seem to be a very foolish risk to take. Unfortunately, Assad does not appear to be thinking rationally. On Thursday, Syria officially threatened "to attack Israel unless it withdraws from the Golan Heights". (freedomoutpost.com 3/13)

Syria's Civil War Is Now 3 Civil Wars.

The fight to depose Assad is over but the battle over his regime's boundaries has no end in sight. In place of the old wars, however, three new ones have started. They are taking place in the three de facto independent areas whose boundaries are becoming apparent as the smoke from the previous battle clears: 1) the regime-controlled area, 60% of the country, guaranteed by Russia; 2) the area east of the Euphrates River controlled by the Syrian Democratic Forces, 30% of the country, which are primarily composed of Kurdish fighters protected by the United States and Western air power; 3) and finally the area controlled by the Turks and their Sunni Islamist allies in Idlib province, comprising 10% of the country. Each of these areas is now hosting a civil war of its own, supported by neighboring enclaves.
